At ARIEL Connections we are excited about our first issue of this quarterly newsletter. Our goal is to use our problem solving skills to change complex problems into manageable opportunities. From our perspective most problems are caused by poor relationship skills. We will come where you are by means of this Newsletter, our web site, books, booklets, workbooks, speaking, workshops, collaboration with other groups, Tele-conference calls, etc... As we grow we will share what we learn with you. We hope you enjoy this Newsletter and consider signing up for future issues.
